

Just 22 miles southwest of Boston is the town of Foxboro, home to Gillette Stadium and the New England Patriots. Thousands of New Englanders visit the stadium each year to take in a Patriots or New England Revolution soccer game or to see a concert.

But Foxboro and its surrounding towns offer much more.

Adjacent to the stadium is a large outdoor shopping, dining and entertainment complex known as Patriot Place. Dozens of retailers, restaurants, interactive entertainment venues and a movie theatre make this a destination in and of itself.

Other well-known locations such as Plainridge Park Casino in Plainville and the Wrentham Village Premium Outlets just scratch the surface of what these towns have to offer. The Xfinity Center in Mansfield is an outdoor concert venue that showcases international acts throughout the summer. Popular eateries such as Kosmos in Walpole and Vilorio's in North Attleboro attract diners from outside the area.

Nearby state forests and nature trails beckon outdoor enthusiasts. With Boston and Providence just a short commute away, Foxboro and the surrounding towns are ideal for quiet, convenient suburban living.
